DEMOCRATIC VOTERS AGAINST JUDGE GREGORY.

With the primary drawing near the Democratic City and County Committee could eliminate one important contest, which contest is caused by the mistaken and ill-advised course just previous to the convention. L. D. Greene, candidate for County Judge, is the principal sufferer because of the committee's mistaken action. At the eleventh hour Mr. Greene was the only candidate and because of his popularity with the younger type of Democracy and independent voters the intended selection was widely accredited. And at this eleventh hour the delegates knew of no other candidate.

Then in the convention, to the surprise of many, the name of Judge James P. Gregory was sprung, and as it afterwards developed many delegates had been approached by James Fahey, Secretary of the committee, asking their support for Gregory. Now if there is one thing repulsive to local Democracy it is "fixed" conventions or "fixed" primaries, and the remarks of Mr. Fahey at a meeting of the committee and candidates Monday is especially applicable to this case. Mr. Duffin said "between Democrats absolute fairness must prevail whether in a convention or primary." If Mr. Fahey's action in using the weight and influence of the committee working for Gregory was not official it must be repudiated, and if it was official the committee has done a great wrong to Mr. Greene, and at the same time paved the way for future wrongs.

Again, Judge Gregory, as the Democratic City and County Committee must know, is unpopular with Louisville and Jefferson county Democracy. Just four years ago Gregory in public speeches denounced the then Democratic administration, characterizing "the Police Department, the Sheriff's office and other branches of the city and county administration as parts of a cursed political machine. These bitter attacks Judge Gregory was circulated in pamphlet form by the Republican Campaign Committee. His nomination for County Judge would be an insult to the men who comprised the last Democratic administration. The men responsible for his indorsement at the convention owe it to the Democratic party to withdraw Gregory and right the convention wrong.

REPUBLICAN

Machine Having Open and Wide-spread Mutiny Right in Its Ranks.

Joe Kirwan, Nick Denunzio, Judge Vaughan and Matt Holt Lead Insurgents.

Pity Poor Judge Quin Trying to Defend Near Mayor Smith's Administration.

NEGROES ARE ON WARPATH.

It's certainly amusing to note the desperate efforts of the Republican machine organ to keep under cover and minimize the knock down and drag out contests going on in the local G. O. P. ranks. The Herald professes to be busy keeping track of any dimensions in the Democratic lines, and thus far has only been able to dig up a little tilt between Judge Arthur Wallace and Attilla Cox for Chancery Judge. Of course the poor old Herald is trying to obey the dictates of Ches, Matt and the "Governor," who control and oversee its political activities, but thus far the machine organ's efforts to cause trouble in the Democratic lines have only furnished amusement to the public, which realizes that Ches, Matt and the "Governor" are using the old tried and true method of causing dissension in the ranks of the opposition by trying to dig up political fights what a field there is right in the Republican ranks? From present indications the Democratic contests will narrow down to a few, but the Republican troubles with withdrawals and attacks on the machine are multiplying daily.

For the first time in eight years or since Marshall Bullitt bucked the machine Ches Seary and his aides are facing open and down-right mutiny in the ranks, and to top it all off the mutiny is widespread. Matt J. Holt, a clean and active Republican, whom the Herald dare not attack, is fighting the Seary-Chilton machine tooth and nail, and questions the right of the machine to select a hand-picked ticket in a rump convention. Mr. Holt is a candidate for Judge of the Criminal Court against Judge Burgevin, the machine selection. Another of the G. O. P. Old Guard whom the Herald will not even refer to is Joseph R. Kirwan, President of the Board of Aldermen and candidate for Sheriff against Gray, the machine selection. Those that know Joe Kirwan, and he is widely known, know him to be a clean and aggressive fighter and his record in the Board of Aldermen made his friends with the public but not with the machine. In the phone ordinance fight Mr. Kirwan "bucked" the near Mayor and Seary-Chilton machine when they advocated the gong raise of the telephone companies. Furthermore, he questioned the right of Joe Lawton, the City Attorney, to address the Board of Aldermen advocating the raise of the telephone Company, when he should have been representing the people and opposing the raise. Lawton is the machine candidate for Commonwealth's Attorney.

Also denying the right of Ches, Mass and the "Governor" to say just who and who shall not run for office on the Republican ticket are Attorney William Earl for Judge of the Criminal Court and Lee C. Roberts for Sheriff. Next comes Attorney Lawrence Speckmann, who refuses to bow to the wishes of the machine and the Herald boycott, announcing for County Judge against Tinner, the machine selection. Next comes the anti-machine candidate who is stirring up more trouble than a hornet's nest and if the Herald is sincere in looking for political fights it could just camp on his trail all day long. This is none other than Nick Denunzio, candidate for Jailer against Seary's man Dover, and thus far Nick has refused to accept the compromises offered by the machine bosses to let up on his attacks. The old gag methods were first used in his case at the convention. He was ridden over rough shod and his friends were told that the machine would use enough negro repeaters to beat Nick or any of the other anti-machine candidates in the primary. Thus far the bluff has failed to work. Nick Vaughan for Police Judge, ex-Alderman William Zeiser and Jack Thomas for Representatives are also causing some worry to the machine. Nathan Howell and A. H. Field for Magistrate are bucking the machine and so is W. R. Leight for Constable.

And this is not all. In the Board of Aldermen Kirwan and Gnuw were dropped because they wouldn't bow to the Seary-Chilton orders, and Harlan, Seardin and Wilson were dropped for some unknown reason. To replace Kirwan the machine selected Joseph W. Torpey, Yardmaster of the L. & N. railroad, as a candidate for Alderman. Then came the laughable "The class of traitors" who belong to Old Glory, Sweet Liberty and the other fanatic organizations, and who are great defenders of the flag in times of peace, began to address Torpey as "Brother." Torpey's candidacy became a joke with his many friends and he was "kidded" so much about being cooped up with the "buck patriots" that he ran out at the eleventh hour, and thus far the Herald has failed to mention that a machine favorite withdrew. In the women's contest, Miss Hattie Hoffman, a popular young lady, who has starred in local dramatic productions, was director general of the women's activities in the Republican organization. It is said some of the bon ton element wanted to control Scott, the machine selection. Scott, the machine selection, Chilton machine removes Miss Hoffman without even an apology and Mrs. Aubrey Cossar was appointed in her stead. Now here's the joke. Mrs. Cossar has sailed for Europe and Miss Hoffman's friends feel the slight worse than ever.

Judging from all of the above one would think that the Herald was really overlooking some nasty faction fights in the ranks, but the real, real trouble that is worrying Ches, Matt and the "Governor" is the negro question, and the poor old machine organ wasn't even allowed to mention that Bishop Cary, a distinguished colored divine from Chicago, was here lecturing in the interests of Wilson Lovett, the negro candidate for Legislature against Scott, the machine selection. The Chicago colored Bishop also threw a boomerang into the ranks of the Republicans by advising the negroes to desert the Republican party if Lovett doesn't get a fair deal in the primary. The audience adopted resolutions defying the machine to beat Lovett by unfair methods and announced that the negro men and women of the Tenth ward comprised 90 per cent. of the voters in that district. Furthermore one of the colored gentlemen addressing the audience said that Scott, the machine nominee, sewed buttons on pants for a living, while Lovett was an educated man and could better represent Louisville and his district. The negroes are wild in their enthusiasm for Lovett's candidacy, and it's a safe bet that the Republican League is now working overtime in trying to dig up enough Frankfort penitentiary residents and dead negroes to beat Lovett in the primary. Watch that fight, but don't watch the Herald for any of the particulars.

The candidacy of Judge Huston Quin, who proposes to desert the Court of Appeals bench, is not proving the strong card the machine hoped, and the fact that Quin has the friend near Mayor Smith and the present "reform" crowd is not exactly calculated to put much "pep" or confidence in him. As long as the Judge could run on his spotless reputation and his ensonal of the Blue Sunday Laws all would be well. But here comes a snag, and the snag was furnished by Seary & Co. in indorsing the Smith administration at the Republican convention. Judge Quin in his campaign speeches will have to defend the Keystone police, the "hick" firemen and the greatest fire loss in Louisville's history, the dirty streets and alleys, and the protection and encouragement of the vicious and gambling negro by the present "reform" administration. What a job that will be for Quin and what a picnic it will be for Oreston Harris, the Democratic nominee, to pin Quin down to answering just what he thinks on the above, coupled with the highest tax rate in the country.

When one considers the coming campaign it can readily be seen that there are only one or two essentials necessary for Democratic success. The first is to let Mr. Harris go right out and carry the fight to Quin, Seary & Co., calling a spade where it is a spade, etc. The first duty however, will be for the Democratic City and County Committee to eliminate some of the present primary contests, eliminating Judge Gregory whose mistaken candidacy can be charged first to the City and County Committee directed by the Seary-Chilton machine. There is no gaining the fact that the people are with the Democratic party this time, and the present committee can retain that confidence and support in November.

Hardly a week passes without some citizen is shot or assaulted by a Keystone, last week L. Karem being assaulted by a policeman, several witnesses testifying that the policeman was soused. That there may be some grounds for this fact is shown by Mr. Karem's statement that he had to insist on his own arrest to get the matter before the authorities. This week a wild youth is shot by a policeman, who was in citizen's clothes and in a soft drink stand two or more miles away from his own neighborhood. Between highwaymen's and Keystone's Wild West shooting escapades the lives of our citizens are constantly in danger. Right here we want to mention, though, how the Board of Safety discouraged target practice of one of the comedy cops, Patrolman McDonnell, of the Point, in full uniform and full other-wise, had his badge tacked to a fence post and was taking pot shots at it to prove his aim, when he was stopped by citizens who claimed he was missing his mark and making it real dangerous for them. The board in passing on the case never complimented the officer for his diligence, but judging from past performances will re-instate him as a detective in the near future.

THOMAS D. CLAIRE.

Funeral services of Thomas D. Claire, retired insurance man and a Colonel on Gov. J. C. W. Beckham's staff, who died Saturday afternoon of heart disease at his home, 110 West St. Catherine street, were conducted Monday morning at Sacred Heart church, of which he was a pioneer and faithful member. Mr. Claire had been ill of heart disease for several months, and the heart was given as a contributing cause. Born in Ireland, seventy-one years ago, he came to Louisville in his young manhood and lived an active and useful life. He served with various insurance agencies and took an active part in politics. He was also active in work of the Knights of Columbus, having held membership in Council No. 330 for many years. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Claire, and a brother and sister, the latter two in Ireland.

IRELAND

De Valera and Peace Delegates Leave Dublin to Meet Lloyd George.

Hopes England Will Abandon Use Force to Overcome National Right.

Satisfaction Felt by the People of England Over Ultimate RESULTS.

PREPARES FOR CELEBRATION.

"I will be in London for a conference with you Thursday next," Eamon De Valera.

This telegram to David Lloyd George, Prime Minister, was read to the House of Commons Monday evening amidst wild cheers from the members.

The Irish delegation to leave Dublin Tuesday, accompanying President De Valera, will include Arthur Griffith, Robert Barton and Austin Stack.

Mr. Barton, who has just been released from a British prison, is a Wicklow landowner. Formerly he was in the British army and now he is Minister of Agriculture of the Irish Republic.

Mr. Stack is the Republican Minister of Home Affairs. He has been imprisoned several times, and on one occasion made a sensational escape from Manchester jail.

It is the wish of the British Government that the delegation be its guests, but it is believed in official circles that the Irishmen probably will prefer to live independently.

Optimism reigns in officialdom that the conference will be productive of peace. It was stated that negotiations probably will last over a period of several months and that the Irish delegation likely will be increased by financial and legal experts, as "intricate financial and delicate constitutional points have to be settled."

It appeared Monday that conversations between President De Valera and the Prime Minister would revolve around the granting of dominion status to Ireland upon condition that the Sinn Fein demand for the establishment of an Irish republic would be abandoned. There was a disposition to believe, however, that once the conference was under way, some means of smoothing out present difficulties would be found.

Dennis O'Connell, Dublin correspondent, sent the following cable to the American press on Monday:

"Ireland hopes that the time is not far distant when she, one of the oldest of the European nations, may take her place among the free peoples of the world." This statement was given to newspapermen Sunday evening by Eamon De Valera, President of the Irish Republic. He added: "Should our hope come to fruition, Europe and all humanity will hear with profound relief that the use of force to overcome the national right of Ireland has been abandoned after seven centuries by one of the great military powers of the world."

I learned that Michael Collins, commander-in-chief of the Irish Republican army, and Richard Mulcahy, chief of staff, will not attend the London conference in the Sinn Fein delegation. The delegates, I am advised, will be De Valera and Arthur Griffith, in company with two of the Southern Unionists who participated in the Mansion House conference here—Sir Maurice Dockrell and Sir Robert Woods.

All Ireland is preparing to celebrate the big victory of the truce. Nevertheless there is general recognition that everything for peace depends on the London conference. The fear of the members of the Irish Republican army is that Premier Lloyd George will hedge at the last moment and will trim his promises. Therefore, the Irish Republican army chiefs have had a special order transmitted through the countryside to hold the organization intact.

Dublin Sunday night experienced a relaxation of the former rigid discipline, but after midnight there were prolonged outbursts of machine gun fire. It could not be ascertained whether there were any casualties. I was privileged to attend the headquarters of the Irish Republican army yesterday evening when a meeting of the Irish generals were held and finishing touches given to the truce preparation. A number of staff officers waited outside to take dispatches to their commands in the country districts.

According to the war regulations nobody can travel more than twenty miles in an automobile from the point of registration, but yesterday evening cars were waiting at the doors to convey the country to the four corners of Ireland. The drivers of the cars were supplied with two special permits, both signed by Gen. Sir Neville MacReady, commander-in-chief of the British forces, giving clearance through all the lines of the Crown forces. Gen. MacReady was made aware of the terms the couriers took to the commanders of the county battalions of the Republican army and their purpose is to "cease fire" from Monday at noon, when the treaty becomes effective. No fighting must continue, but trenching must proceed as usual and also the making of dugouts. The messages also included the following:

"The moment you should receive a communication of the breakdown of the London conference proceed with the usual hostilities."

The cars left in the darkness at midnight so their movements in the country regions could not be traced. Cheering crowds, numbering many thousands of London's Irish men and women, greeted Eamon De Valera and the other members of the Irish peace delegation on their arrival at Euston Station, London. The Irish Republican flags waved and Irish songs were sung while London policemen cleared the way for the men who have been fighting Great Britain for three years. They were escorted to automobiles and whisked to the Governor Hotel which will be their headquarters during their stay in the British capital.

Daniel O'Callahan, Lord Mayor of Cork, is reported by the Central News to have arrived in Cork from the United States.

PROSPECTS BRIGHTEN.

Three of the principal Allied nations, Great Britain, France and Italy, have officially signified their acceptance of President Harding's invitation to hold a conference on limitation of armaments, while China has indicated her readiness to participate in a conference relative to Far Eastern affairs. Japan is the only one of the Allies which has not placed herself on record as being ready to take part in the Washington conference, but it is expected in official circles here that her acceptance will be communicated to the United States Government. In Government circles it appears to be the consensus of opinion that the meeting at Washington will be attended by some of the most prominent statesmen of the world.

The Osservatore Romano, the organ of the Vatican, prints a semi-official note warmly congratulating President Harding on the initiative he has taken for an international conference on the limitation of armaments. The American President's action, says the note, is identical with that which Pope Benedict took in August, 1917, when His Holiness wrote to the Powers with the object of ending the war, and it adds that the Pope will experience the liveliest pleasure in seeing his prayers realized under the powerful initiative of the United States.

WITNESSED BIG PARADE.

Dr. Wm. B. Doherty has returned from a visit to his son, Dr. W. Brown Doherty, in New York City, and on the Fourth of July witnessed the great procession of the many divisions of the American Association for Recognition of the Irish Republic. To the Kentucky Irish American Dr. Doherty said:

"From 9 o'clock to 2 o'clock the friends of the Irish Republic marched—men, women and children—by the thousands on Fifth avenue from Eighth street to Central Park, carrying banners emblematic of American and Irish freedom. The sidewalks were lined with cheering thousands. At Central Park, rousing and invigorating speeches by brilliant orators and the reading of the Declaration of Independence marked the end of a memorial day with the largest procession in the cause of Irish freedom ever witnessed in New York. Many of those who witnessed the enthusiasm displayed like myself could not fail to believe that the spirit of the Irish people for freedom is undying and unconquerable."

CHICKEN GALORE.

The parishioners of St. Paul's church, Jackson and Kentucky, never looked forward with more interest to their annual reunion and picnic which will be held next Tuesday, afternoon and evening on the spacious grounds adjoining the church. There will be the usual amusements for young and old, but the feature that should draw people from all parts of the city will be the fried chicken dinner and supper, of which there will be a plenty and then some. This reunion is held for the benefit of St. Paul's church and to help advance the excellent work now progressing under the direction of the zealous pastor, Rev. Father Eugene Donohue, who was for many years stationed at the Cathedral of the Holy Cross, and whose changes and improvements made by Father Donohue will be an agreeable surprise. The ladies of the parish have been working hard for this event and promises all a cordial reception and a chicken feast they will long remember.

THIRD ORDER EVENT.

Next October 2, 3 and 4 all Franciscan Tertiaries of the United States will convene at Chicago, Ill., in a grand national convention. Under the special guidance of the Holy See, with the approval and blessing of His Excellency the Most Rev. John Benzano, Apostolic Delegate to the United States, of the three Most Reverend Ministers General of the three branches of the Franciscan order, and of the Most Rev. George W. Mundelein, Archbishop of Chicago, the Franciscan Friars of the United States are planning to make the first national Tertiary convention, which is to commemorate the seven hundredth anniversary of the founding of the Third Order, a memorable event. There are two Convention Boards with headquarters at St. Augustine's Monastery, 5045 Laflin street, Chicago, which will attend to all matters of the coming convention.

MOURN HIS DEATH.

Charles H. Bennett, stricken at Getsemane, where he was making the retreat with the Knights of Columbus, died Monday morning at St. Mary and Elizabeth Hospital. For many years Mr. Bennett was active in the Knights of Columbus. He was associated with the Cohan Specialty Company, 659 South Fourth street, and was interested in other concerns.

Funeral services were held Wednesday morning at St. Paul's church, Rev. Father Donohue celebrating the requiem high mass.

MEMORIAL EXERCISES.

New Albany Council, Knights of Columbus met Thursday night at Castle Hall, Oak and Vincennes streets, when memorial exercises were held for the late Michael J. Farrell, who for years had been a leading member of the order in Southern Indiana.

CENTENARY

The Third Order of St. Francis Founded Seven Hundred Years.

Has Been an Important and Potent Factor in World's Social Regeneration.

Through Imitation of This Saint Lies Every Hope of Future Salvation.

THE HOLY FATHER'S LETTER.

In an appeal to Franciscan tertiaries, Father Cuthbert, O. S. F. C., says: "The Franciscan order has from its infancy considered itself especially commissioned by God to oppose the selfishness and luxury of the world." Never was the work of the devoted men and women who belong to this pious confraternity of greater importance than today. Never has it promised larger results. For selfishness and luxury have once more, as in Francis' time, become abominable vices of the social body. To oppose a barrier to this insidious plague, to check the spread of frivolous life, has become an imperative social necessity. But the brave work must be done by men and women of the world. Here is the splendid opportunity for the members of the Third Order. "For," says Father Cuthbert, "St. Francis founded his order for all those who revolted against the corruption and sin of the time, and when he extended his order so as to embrace men and women living in the world he created a hostile camp in the midst of the world itself, to do battle with the social immorality of a degenerate age."

The century of St. Francis was like our own, a time of great social disturbance and discontent. There were feuds and fierce civic rivalries which drove men like Dante into exile. There was vulgar luxury and display of finery and ostentatious wealth beside squalid poverty. There was hard-heartedness toward the poor and contempt for those of lowly station. And as in our day, the latter reacted by following reformers who promised relief through means the church was obliged to condemn. To a society thus rent asunder St. Francis appealed, not as an ordinary social reformer would, by criticizing the evil tendencies, but rather by pointing out a higher ideal, namely poverty. He himself espoused poverty and filled the hearts of others with the same lofty love for her. Thus did he become the great social reformer of his time. And the Third Order came into being because numerous men and women who could not leave the world earnestly desired to realize the ideal of the Poor Man of Assisi. It has been well said that this movement "was a great social reform, for it led men forward to heaven by making the way on earth straighter and more like unto heaven. It dealt not with general abstract principles, but with the actual facts of the world—the fierce feuds, the intense selfishness, the luxury and the affluence of the thirteenth century."

We speak of our age as the age of democracy. But the age which prides itself on being such is also the age of fierce industrialism, the age which saw the rise of the sweatshop, the beginning of child labor, the work of mothers in factories, the grinding of the wage-earner under the heel of capitalism. The labor union and much-needed social legislation are only beginning to do away with the worst evils of a distinctly industrial civilization. But all attempts at social reform will be without avail until men realize the needs of socializing, not the means of production, not even industrial society, but the individual. Because St. Francis and his Third Order accomplished this they became a social asset of priceless value. Exalting poverty, teaching charity, St. Francis and his followers brought about social justice. The Abbe Monier in his "History of St. Francis" quite correctly claims: "The Third Order may be said to be one of the greatest efforts ever attempted for introducing more justice among men. They (the Tertiaries) changed the then existing social order in favor of the weak and humble."

No wonder Pope Benedict hopes for an awakening of the Third Order from the coming centenary observance. Referring to the evils of our day which he desires to see overcome, he says in his pronouncement: "If we consider carefully, there are at present two passions prevailing in this incredible perversion of customs—the unbounded love of riches and an unquenchable thirst for pleasure. Thence the shame of our age, that while progressing unceasingly in the conveniences and comforts of life, nevertheless in what concerns the duty of living uprightly, which is far more important, it seems eager to hurry back to the corruption of paganism. And in truth the more men lose sight of the eternal goods prepared for them in heaven the more are they attracted toward the perishable ones, and once they are sinfully bent toward earth, every virtue in them easily becomes

IRELAND HOPEFUL.

All indications point to a final settlement of the Irish question on the basis now practically agreed to by the Irish leaders, South and North, and the British Cabinet. President de Valera has the full advice and counsel in his negotiations of Arthur Griffith, John McNeill, Robert Barton and the I. R. A. chiefs, and we are confident that Sir James Craig and his Belfast Cabinet will demur to the representations and pressure of British Ministers and South of Ireland Union statesmen. To Smuts, the South African Premier, falls the distinguished part of being the chosen intermediary in consummating the agreement between Nationalist Ireland, the irreconcilables of Northeast Ulster and the English Government. That the terms of settlement will meet the aspirations and popular wishes of the vast majority of all the Irish people may well be accepted as a certainty. The terms of an independent republic may not be admitted, but this is insignificant, and the name does not carry with it at all times the freedom implied, but under the terms of settlement all the ideals of nationhood, self-determination in national and economic pursuits and popular government as exemplified in Australia, Canada and South Africa will be fully guaranteed. This is the alternative which the leaders of the Sinn Féin movement have to choose as against a hopeless and destructive warfare in which the odds are too great to offer hopes of ultimate success. For the sake of the honest, faithful, God-fearing people of Ireland—women, children and the old folk—who have suffered so much and so heroically for the past three years, we bespeak the good wishes of all those of Irish blood in the consummation of an honorable agreement and in the attainment of national and civil rights that will put the security of the future of Ireland in their own hands.

LOGIC FOR DUPES.

The editor of the Western Baptist Recorder rushed to the defense of the notorious ex-Gov. Catts, of Florida, and says that all of Catts' troubles are due to persecution from the Catholic Church and the liquor interests. A statement like that is an insult to the intelligence of anyone able to read, and a statement like that in the official organ is a reflection on the Baptists whom that paper is supposed to represent. Ex-Gov. Catts was indicted by both Federal and State juries, which the writer does not mention, and he is careful to omit the fact that Catts, the ex-Governor and Baptist minister, was armed with a blackjack when captured while trying to elude the police.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT.

That the British-Japanese alliance is aimed at the United States is the opinion of the Manchester Guardian, a fearless English newspaper. Indeed the Guardian argues that it can have no other object, since Germany is no longer in a position to thwart British imperial or commercial designs in Asia and Russia has ceased to be formidable. Here is food for thought for those who would curtail America's defensive activities on a fraudulent plea of economy. There certainly is no economy in leaving our country open to attack from any side. If we show the world that we are prepared for eventualities of a hostile nature, we are likely to enjoy a very long spell of peace. Being prepared is therefore the truest economy; any other policy would be suicidal.

NO ROOM FOR FACTION.

The press has been favored with the first installment of an account purporting to give the true version of the differences between President De Valera, of the Irish Republic, and Justice Cohan, of New York. Taking position with the True Voice, we confess that we are not deeply interested in the subject; and besides we think that too much importance has been attached to the doings of the factionists who would ruin Ireland's cause in America for their own personal advantage. No extended history of the events that led up to their desertion of President De Valera is needed to convict them of unfaithfulness to the cause of Ireland. We have no time to waste on those who can not submerge their own petty egotism in the cause for which all should strive.

We are much more interested in what is going on in Ireland today and in what the people of Ireland are thinking and doing than in the efforts of any individual to keep his name before the public. The fact that the people of Ireland have again chosen De Valera as President of the Irish Republic shows what they think of him and how much they depend on him to lead their cause to victory. If some in this country can not agree with him—that is a very small matter. They may call themselves friends of Irish freedom, or any other name they choose, but thinking men will not be deceived by name. They are really doing the work of Britain in fostering the spirit of faction. Let us hear as little as possible about them.

We know well enough that the true friends of Ireland are supporting the Irish President in his stand for the freedom of his country. They are doing that in Ireland, and it is useless for men in America to say that they are friends of Irish freedom while they are trying to stab President de Valera in the back. We do not wish to be too hard on them; perhaps most of them are deceived and can not understand the true situation. But there is no getting away from the fact that President De Valera represents the Republic of Ireland. Supporters of the republic are supporters of its chosen President.

TAFT COMES BACK.

Appointment of ex-President Taft to succeed the late Chief Justice White was not unexpected. A more fitting appointment could scarcely have been made. Chief Justice Taft has many of the qualities of a great judge. It was the fortunes of politics that led him away from the bench and placed him in executive positions for so many years. We believe that he can "come back" and render splendid service on the supreme bench. We scarcely expect him to achieve the renown of the late Chief Justice, but we believe that he will be remembered as Chief Justice Taft rather than as President Taft.

BIBLE CONGRESS.

It is indeed interesting to note that while Protestants are growing away from the Bible, which they declared should be the rule of faith and after tinkering with its texts for over four hundred years, there are many who now clamor for revised editions, expurgations and even a new Bible. The grand old church of the ages, which preserved the Bible in all its integrity for the world, reasserts today its truth and authority as the revealed Word of God. A great Bible Congress is to be held in England. It was called by the Cardinal Archbishop of Westminster and the Bishops of England and Wales, and will be held at Cambridge from July 17 to July 19 inclusively. The Holy Father, in special letter, has blessed the Congress and its work which will be to urge all the children of the church to more faithful study of the Holy Scriptures so as to meet the demands of the times in their country. It is proposed during the congress that, besides solemn liturgical offices with prayers for the Holy Father, there shall be popular addresses for the benefit of the faithful at large and conferences designed to help and encourage those who have made progress in the study of the Sacred Book or who desire to do so, and also to explain the Catholic viewpoint for the benefit of the people at large.

The opponents of the present primary law are composed of two classes, the first being those who do not mix or care to have a speaking acquaintance with the common herd, while the other class are the bosses or dictators who prefer slate making in a convention.

SISTERS OF MERCY.

The Sisters of Mercy, on East Broadway, at their recent chapter re-elected Mother Genevieve as Superior and Mother Bernadine as assistant. Sister Mary Rita was made mistress of novices and Sister Mary Gertrude bursar. The Rev. Leonard Berlier, rector of the Sacred Heart Retreat, gave the annual retreat at this convent.

EXPRESSIVE OF PATRIOTISM.

The following letter, written by Master William J. Cawk, eleven years old, is beautifully expressive of the heroic patriotism of the Irish people and the spirit of self-sacrifice that fills his young and noble soul. His grandaunt, the saintly Sister Mary Beirne, was one of the foundation members of the Order of Mercy in Louisville. His aunt, Sister Mary Bernard, to whom the letter was written, is still living and a member of the Sisters of Mercy, East Broadway, this city. The letter was written at Aghaushawn, Drumcong, Carrick-Shannon, June 20, and is as follows:

"Dear Sister: I wish to return my best thanks for the beautiful book you sent me. I took great pleasure in reading it. I would like to be as good a boy as 'Paul,' and if it were God's holy will I would like to become a priest. I hope you will pray for me to be good, and also for my father, mother, brothers and sister, and for our dear country. Could you do anything to get your great big country to help us? Our boys are fighting hard against big odds, and though the fight may be long they will never give in. I hope God will strengthen them in their battle for freedom. I remain, dear Sister, your friend, W. J. TIGHE."

PASTORAL CHANGES.

A number of changes among the priests of the Louisville diocese were announced last week, two of the assignments being young clergymen only recently ordained at St. Meinrad's Seminary in Indiana. The Bishop's appointments are as follows:

The Rev. John A. Fowler, who has been pastor at St. Francis Xavier church at Raywick, Marion county, has been made pastor of St. Edward's church at Jeffersonton, succeeding the Rev. T. H. Reverman, who has charge of St. Francis of Assisi church, on Bardstown road.

Succeeding Father Fowler at Raywick will be the Rev. Joseph Odendahl, who leaves St. Anthony's church at Axtel, Breckinridge county.

Father John Higdon, of Knottsville, ordained in June, goes to Axtel, and another newly ordained priest, a former member of St. Martin's congregation, Father Robert H. Huppel, has been made assistant to Father Assent at St. Elizabeth's church on East Burnett avenue.

The Rev. T. O. Durbin, pastor of the Church of the Holy Name of Mary at Calvary, in Marion county, who has been ill, at Sts. Mary and Elizabeth Hospital. His parish is being looked after from St. Mary's College.

RECENT DEATHS.

It was indeed a great shock to relatives and friends Wednesday when they heard of the death of Mrs. Margaret Miller, twenty-seven years old, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Harkins, 2504 West Jefferson street. She had been ill about a week. In addition to her husband and parents she is survived by five sisters: Misses Grace, Katie, Mayme, Rosella and Evelyn Harkins, and by two brothers, Edward and John Harkins, Jr. Her funeral took place yesterday morning from St. Cecilia's church.

Mrs. Mary L. Greenwell, thirty-two years old, widow of Emmett Greenwell, died Monday morning at the home of her sister, Mrs. W. H. Holthausen, 1442 South Ninth street. Besides Mrs. Holthausen she is survived by her mother, Mrs. Mary Harp, and three brothers, John and W. H. Harp, Louisville, and Henry Harp, Chicago. Funeral services were held Wednesday morning at Chicago.

CONDEMN BOY SCOUTS.

The Presbyterian Church in General Assembly, standing for the Puritanical observance of the Sabbath, has condemned "the Boy Scouts, and in scathing resolutions refused to recognize or endorse the movement. It is interesting to read the reasons upon which the followers of Calvin and John Knox base their condemnation of a movement which the most serious minded men of the country feel will act as a great help to boys, especially in preserving the moral standard. One of the prominent preachers at the assembly declared that his observations of the Boy Scout methods was revolting in the extreme. Coming to specific charges, he said that with his own eyes, in broad daylight, he had seen circumstances that left no possibility of his being deceived. He saw automobiles on Sunday carrying Boy Scouts to a dinner that they were giving to their parents on the river side near his home. After due deliberation and observation he came to the conclusion that the boys were desecrating the Sabbath by having a picnic. This he thought should be enough to condemn the whole movement. A Presbyterian church editor said that he had seen Boy Scouts actually breaking camp on Sunday afternoon, and that some of them after having had their Sunday-school lesson in the open, had actually gone so far as to listen to a lecture on the civil war and a study of the battlefields about Richmond.

Another said that on many occasions he had been scandalized to the depths of his heart and Christian soul at the sight of Boy Scouts coming in with their camp equipments on Sunday evening. After all this sensational evidence had been presented to the horrified assembly, the gentlemen who had recommended the endorsement of the Boy Scout movement withdrew his resolution and suggested that all Presbyterian pastors and the assembly go on record as opposed to the Boy Scouts and should prohibit their boys from attending anything that resembled a desecration of the Sabbath.

But the Boy Scouts need not crouch in fear and trembling at the condemnation of the Presbyterian Assembly. Their honest, healthy movement which means so much especially for boys who have no home life, and no playgrounds in which to vent the activity of boy nature, has received the endorsement of the greatest authority in Christendom, the Supreme Pontiff of the Catholic Church; it has received the hearty endorsement of the great Republic of the United States and the best men of this country. It is a forward, onward, helpful movement for boys, healthful for its splendid life in the open, and a moral discipline for the up-building of character and of service to fellow men.

SISTERS' ANNUAL MEETING.

Arrangements are well under way for the second annual meeting of Sisterhoods engaged in Catholic social and charitable work, to be held at Milwaukee, September 22-24, 1921. The Sisters' meeting will immediately follow the National Conference of Catholic Charities. In accordance with the desires of the various religious communities, the Sisters' meetings are being confined almost exclusively to religious. The objects of the Sisters' conference are to bring together the religious engaged in Catholic charities for the purpose of exchanging information and experience in regard to the best methods in their work and to formulate standards in regard to child caring institutions, day nurseries and other works of charity in which the religious are engaged.

MOTHER.

Speak kindly to your mother, boy, in her declining years. For little words of kindness may spare her many tears; Oft-times come days of worry and nights of broken rest. When she has heard an unkind word from lips that once she pressed.

When baby tears rolled down your cheeks and you were wont to weep. She took you in her loving arms and rocked you off to sleep; Then gently laid you in your bed and breathed a silent prayer That God above would guard her love, the infant nestling there.

You can not pay your mother for her sufferings of the past, Or for the tender love she bears that time will not outlast; For when by all forsaken, bereft of every friend, You still can turn to mother, whose love not death can end. —Edward J. Leahy.

MAYOR OF DUBLIN.

One contribution which Lord Mayor Laurence O'Neill, of Dublin, brought back with him from America for the Irish White Cross was the outcome of an incident which he relates in connection with his tour of the United States. In one of the hotels at which he stayed a ten-year-old girl, the daughter of a California millionaire, inquired of the Lord Mayor about the Irish children. After he had told her of their plight she ran off to her father, whispered in his ear, and immediately returned with a check for $1,000 "to buy goods and clothing for the children of Ireland." The check was signed by "J. Tynan." Mr. Tynan is President of the Union Iron Works of San Francisco.

One of the most interesting passages in the Lord Mayor's statement was the following: "Archbishop Hayes hit off the situation when he said the Irish question was a burning world-wide question which must be settled."

R. S. Anderson, a Protestant, who accompanied the Lord Mayor, said there was more interest taken in the Irish question than he had ever thought possible. This interest was shared by representatives of foreign nationalities in the United States.

GOOD SHEPHERD FUND.

Bishop John Newton McCormick, of the Episcopal Diocese of Western Michigan, is one of the members of the committee which is handling the drive for $165,000 for the erection of an addition to the House of the Good Shepherd, at Grand Rapids. Discussing the work of the Good Shepherd, Bishop McCormick, who is a member of the State Board of Corrections and Charities, said: "This place should have the confidence and support of the general public, for the whole stimulus as to mind and body is in the right direction."

CEMENT FLOORS.

MUST HAVE CARE.

Having by their courage and resourcefulness brought about the conditions which have forced the invitation, President de Valera and Dail Eireann can be expected to deal with the new situation wisely and prudently in Ireland's interest. They will need to have behind them the unbroken support of all the friends of Ireland in America. We must be on guard against any and every attempt to disrupt our solidarity.

In Ireland, by their own energy and through their willingness to suffer, the people have succeeded in making English rule impossible. This is recognized by those in England who are ashamed of the killings and burnings of the past year, and those who, admitting that deliberate terrorism has failed to reduce the people to submission, now advocate re-conquest by the fullest employment of all the agencies of warfare. In America we have done something to support the people in Ireland in their time of trial, much to discredit England for her barbarous action, and perhaps we have made it impossible for Macready to do in the twentieth century what Cromwell did in the seventeenth. We must not forget, however, that what is now proposed to be done in Ireland actually was done in South Africa when the Boer Republics were suppressed only twenty years ago.

In front of all other considerations, we must keep a clear consciousness of England's unbroken record of bad faith in all her dealings with Ireland. England has never been bound by any undertaking which her real or supposed interest induced her to disregard. Every compact she has ever made with an Ireland in arms she has cynically broken when Ireland, trusting her promises, lay helpless. The present Prime Minister, Lloyd George, has himself repeatedly and basely deceived Irish leaders who dealt with him in good faith, and has disavowed his own pledges when the immediate necessity for making them in his own or England's interest had passed.

It will be, now as always, the policy of England to divide and rule. Already they have established a British Parliament in Northeast Ulster. The way has evidently been prepared for a dexterous and desperate attempt to array Irish nationality and Catholic devotion in opposing camps. And a very obvious design of Lloyd George's peaceful protestations is to interrupt the pressure in this country for recognition of the Irish Republic by the Government of the United States. Our friends in Ireland are too shrewd to play England's game there. We must be careful not to play her game here.

CHAPLAIN ASSIGNED.

Rev. John J. Brady, former chaplain of the Fifth Marine Corps, and the first American Catholic chaplain to arrive overseas, has been assigned as chaplain to the United States, Battleship Michigan. Father Brady won two citations, and the Distinguished Service Cross.

SEEING OLD FRIENDS.

The Rev. Francis O'Neill, O. P., of Minneapolis, was in Louisville last week passing through the city. Father O'Neill at one time was stationed at St. Louis. Bertrand church here, but is now attached to the Northwestern band of Dominican missionaries, with headquarters at Holy Rosary church, Minneapolis.

extinct, so that, nauseated by everything spiritual, they only covet the intoxication of vulgar pleasures. And we generally observe that, while on one side there is no moderation in accumulating riches, on the other is wanting that resignation of old times to suffering the discomforts that accompany poverty and misery, and while among proletarians and rich the fierce fight we spoke of is raging, the aversion of the needy is sharpened by the immoderate luxury of the many united to a brazen licentiousness." Let us hope with the Supreme Pontiff that many will realize fully the great problem, which is this: "To prepare by means of numerous groups of believers, through the imitation of St. Francis, the way and the return to Christ, in which return lies every hope of future salvation."

BISHOP SHAHAN.

The Right Rev. Bishop Thomas J. Shahan, rector of the Catholic University, who lectured at Macaulay's Theater, spent several days in Kentucky visiting our educational institutions, among them Nazareth, Loretto, St. Catherine's and St. Mary's before leaving for Washington.

Archbishop Messmer, of Milwaukee, who is in Rome on his ad limina visit, will journey to his old home at Goldach, Switzerland, where in the church in which he celebrated his first mass he will, on July 23, celebrate his golden sacerdotal jubilee. It is understood that because of his present trip his archdiocese has deferred the celebration of this auspicious event until October, the Archbishop expecting to return home late in September.

VOTE FOR BEN F. EWING

FOR COUNTY COMMISSIONER

Primary August 6.

BEN F. EWING was born at St. Matthews, Jefferson county, Kentucky, on March 5, 1881, and is the son of B. F. Ewing and Adele Rudy Ewing, his father having been the founder of the D. H. Ewing's Sons Creamery. He completed the county and city graded schools, graduated from the Kentucky Military Institute, the Center College of Kentucky, and the Jefferson School of Law.

He married Willie C. Kendrick, daughter of William C. Kendrick, the jeweler, and has one daughter.

He has been a life-long Democrat.

Mr. Ewing is one of the best connected citizens of Jefferson county, and a member of a prominent family, a man whose honesty and integrity is unquestioned, and enjoys the confidence of all his friends and business associates, and if elected to the office of County Commissioner will handle the county's money judiciously and honestly and to the best advantage of the taxpayers.

DELEGATE TO DETROIT.

Joseph D. Hennessy, President of Division 4, Ancient Order of Hibernians, has been chosen to represent the local County Board at the national convention to be held at Detroit for four days beginning next Tuesday. Mr. Hennessy will leave tomorrow evening and following the convention will take his annual vacation.

To the Democratic Voters of Louisville and Jefferson County--

Until several weeks prior to June 22, 1921, it was the generally expressed opinion of the Press, Democratic Clubs and voters that all of the sitting Judges of the present Circuit Court would and should be renominated without opposition.

About eight days prior to above date I learned of a scheme on the part of a self-constituted organization engaged in selecting a ticket to be put through at a convention to be called by Mr. John C. Doolan, chairman of the Democratic Party and County Committee, on June 22, 1921.

Though I did not then know it was a fact of the state makers to defeat me for renomination to my present position, I at once called on Mr. Doolan in his official capacity and protested against the supposed program for the convention as to the selection of candidates for the Democratic party as undemocratic and unjust and certain to destroy the then existing harmony in the party.

Mr. Doolan then informed me that the Democratic Committee had made no plans for the convention's governance and each member was pledged to keep hands off of the candidacy of any Democratic party recognition of his claims and that he, personally, would certainly do so.

I informed him that I did not then know as a fact of the said scheme, but proposed to run it down and ascertain its truth or falsity.

I also stated to Mr. Doolan that my purpose in coming to him officially was in the general interest of party harmony and honest methods, and I had heard of no opposition to me. Thereupon, after some apparent hesitancy, he said to me he felt it his duty to inform me that I would have opposition in Mr. Attila Cox, who he believed would be in the open and not sprung, as apparently it was planned, on the public and me without notice.

Saturday—two days after this latter statement from me—the evening papers announced Mr. Cox's candidacy, leaving me hardly more than one week's time prior to June 22, 1921, to reach with my claims the voters.

With the above information received from Mr. Doolan, I at once sought to learn who and what was behind this attempt to secretly defeat me.

Within two hours I learned from an absolutely reliable source subsequently, practically admitted by Mr. Doolan and another member of the Democratic Committee what immediately followed.

I learned, while Mr. Alex Barrett was announced by the papers to be a Republican candidate for the judicial position now held by me, there was a meeting of this self-constituted organization of the makers and dictators of Democratic nominees at which Mr. John C. Doolan, chairman of the Democratic Party and County Committee, was present.

Of course, not in his official capacity. At this meeting, and in Mr. Doolan's hearing, Mr. A. J. Carroll proposed, as a matter of party expediency, that Mr. Alex Barrett, a Republican, be proposed or recommended to the Democratic Convention to be held June 22, 1921, in place of me.

Mr. Barrett's prompt declination to run for this office, now held by me, thwarted the carrying out of this plan.

All of the above occurred within four weeks prior to June 22, 1921, and was known to Mr. Doolan before and at the time I held the above-mentioned interview with him and withheld from me by him.

Upon learning the above I immediately sought another interview with Mr. Doolan.

This interview occurred in one of the offices attached to my court room. I stated to Mr. Doolan at this interview the above facts and said, "You can answer or not as to whether you were present."

After seeking to obtain from me the source from which I had learned the above and after being pressed by me to answer or not, as he saw fit, he replied: "I prefer not to answer that question."

I then asked Mr. Doolan what were the charges against me and his answer, in substance, was as follows, i. e.: "There are no charges against you and none, in my opinion, could be truthfully made; that you have been an honest, efficient and courageous Judge."

I then asked him if I had been a non-partisan Judge.

His answer, in substance, was that at all times I had been absolutely such. I then said I tried to try to measure up to his said estimate of me as a Judge and asked him, if he correctly estimated my administration of the office of Judge, what answer he and his associates could make to the hundreds of inquiries which were certain to be made of them as to why, with such a record as a Judge I had been singled out of the seven sitting Judges to be made a goat of.

His answer was, "That would be a hard nut to crack."

He again stated he would take no part for or against me—and would be entirely neutral in the contest.

Bear in mind these professions of neutrality and decide whether they contrast with these acts of the gentleman, i. e.: (1) The above facts show he knew of the proposed secret plan of the state makers to ouster me from the office of Judge, and his above statement to me under questioning by me, that he felt it his duty to tell me I would have such opposition shows he knew it was planned to keep Mr. Cox's candidacy secret, but his secret duty would not permit him longer to be party to it.

(2) His presence at the meeting above-mentioned, at which a Republican candidate for my position was to be recommended as a Democratic candidate in place of me, a Democratic Judge seeking a renomination solely from the Democratic party and failing to tell me of it at our first and only interview.

(3) His first act, in the convention, upon surrendering the chair to the temporary and permanent chairmen of the convention, was to move that all resolutions offered should be referred to the Resolutions Committee without discussion or debate.

He cannot deny he knew the real purpose of his motion, and that he was delegates from acting upon Mr. P. H. Callahan's motion, known to him to be to refer Mr. Cox's name to the committee, and that of others similarly situated, to the August primary, which the committee and which he and his associates were deliberately seeking to evade.
